

away the precious token of her mother's love. But there was no home, and there being no home there was no bond of love, sympathy between the mother and daughter. I have seen the average auditor laugh over this episode and applaud Lorenzo for scoring his trick against the Jew by wounding him in the tenderest emotions of his family life. Hence said this has been in more than a thousand years would have gotten fifteen years at hard labor.

Then, too, at the trial, had the wife been there, she would have divided and unmasked the disguise of Portia, and a woman's intuition have seen the trickery of the Jew and the quibble by which Portia frees Antonio.

Shylock Wronged Character.

The injustice of the world's attitude toward the Jew is manifest in its judgment on this play. Shylock is the wronged and outraged character. He is wronged in the treatment he received; wronged in his home; wronged at the court of justice; wronged by the shallow trickery of the law; wronged by the contention; wronged by the injustice of the statute that made him forfeit his own fortune and compels him to become a beggar; wronged by the world's applause a Baccano who, in the pleasures of his honeymoon, forgot the friend who had risked his life to make his woeless, wretched, and wretched Lorenzo, a common thief and seducer, and it holds up to scorn and contumely a Shylock, and makes him the type of an inhuman and suffering people.

Purity of Jewish Home.

All this because there was no wife and mother. It is an established and conceded fact that the home life of the Jewish people has been unsurpassed among men. Its life has been pure and sweet and true. It has been the palladium of the Jewish race, the source of its peerless moral strength, the refuge for the weary and world-abused wanderer. It has given him strength to endure the world's hate and insult; the home life has been the source of his strength, the source of his love, his devotion and his fortitude. It has made him a man, a man who in his loving sympathy the hunted slave found a haven and a solace. "Give us the truth," said the Jew, "and we will work praise her in the gates."

As a nation, and as a characterization as is the figure of Shylock, it would have been inconceivable in the presence of the Jew's wife and mother. Her absence was a necessity, and Shylock's absence would have been a spiritual and dramatic impossibility.

LIBRARY EXHIBIT.

State Library Board Elects Officers and Authorizes Purchases.

The State Library Board met last night in a session that lasted from 8:30 to 12 o'clock. Four members were present: Mr. Armistead C. Gordon, chairman; Judge Garnett, of Norfolk; Mr. C. V. Meredith and Mr. S. S. P. Patterson.

Under the provisions of the recent legislative appropriation, the board has authorized the purchase of books, periodicals and newspapers for the library. Mr. William Clayton Torrence was elected chief of the division of archives and history; Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, chief bibliographer; Mr. Frank B. Berkley, chief of the division of library division; Mrs. E. C. Minor, chief of the division of library division; Miss Rose Goode, stenographer; Miss C. G. Rison, assistant in the catalogue division; and Miss Ethel I. Nolin, assistant in the traveling library division.

The board is planning to make an extensive purchase of books, periodicals and newspapers for the library. Mr. Kennedy, librarian, was authorized to purchase $2,500 worth of books for traveling library purposes.

He was also authorized to make necessary changes in the serials room for the holding of books, periodicals and newspapers and for the furnishing of the librarian's office and to make such arrangements for the various chiefs.

The board then adopted resolutions authorizing the librarian to make a full exhibit of the traveling library division at the Jamestown Exposition. This exhibit will be of peculiar interest, as there will be displayed manuscripts of the State, which in value and number are not surpassed by those of any State in the Union. The board will also make an exhibit of the traveling library division at the Jamestown Exposition.

An ideal library will be set up, showing the most modern indexing and cataloging methods now in vogue.

J. P. BRENT WINS.

Exciting Three-Mile Relay Race at Reservoir Last Night.

J. P. Brent won the three-mile relay race last night in the big rink at the Reservoir when W. D. Newberry seemed a certain victor. The time of the race was fourteen minutes and ten seconds.

There were eight of the fastest skaters in the State in the race, four in each team, under the leadership of Brent and Newberry, respectively.

This race was by far the most exciting event of its kind ever held in any rink in the State. The winners, Brent, G. L. McKee, Robert Frazier and Eddie Harley, were each given handsome prizes.

Manager Eubank says that if he gets the Washington contract this week for the two fast Washington skaters, Brent and Newberry, the race will be pulled off next Friday night. If the contract does not arrive in time there will be a half mile race for misses and girls.

Free Concert Programme.

Professor Corrado has included in his programme for the Sunday afternoon free sacred concert tomorrow afternoon in the big rink at the reservoir, the famous sacred composition of Otto Lang, "The Easter Song," which is the oldest and sweetest sacred song which never grows too old to appeal to the music lover everywhere.

In addition to this composition the band will also play "Salome," Lorraine's famous masterpiece. These two selections with the overture to "Semiramide," Southern Revere's "Grand selections from Cloacina," the chorus from "Tanhauser," the intermezzo from "Colombino Arona's," "Mina," "Bela's" and "The Festival of the Flowers," and "Chambers' famous Brothers in Arms" march will compose the programme.

Many compliments have been paid Professor Corrado by the thousands who have enjoyed these concerts and his selections and arrangements have been the source of no little pleasure to music lovers during the winter.

Rev. Dr. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of Leigh Street Baptist Church, will occupy his pulpit at 10:30 service to-morrow morning subject, "The Character of a City Tested by Its Hospitality." Evening subject, "The Crown of Life."

Rev. J. A. Thomas will occupy his pulpit at Laurel Street M. E. Church at both services Sunday. At night he will preach a special sermon to the Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans.

How the Goulds Are Raising Their Children

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

"Berry's for Clothes."

St. Patrick--born (tradition) in Scotland about 393, died in 487, made Bishop of Ireland in 441.

Here are all kinds of show clothes but perhaps the wise ones will wear our new spring Raincoats to-day.

Nothing more "dresy," Nothing more "serviceable," $15.00 to $30.00.

New Spring Hats, Shoes, Shirts, Top Coats, Suits--all in. For man or boy.

FOURTH DISTRICT PRIMARY DATE

Each Candidate Must Deposit Money for Election Expenses By June 1st.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, Va., March 16.--Tuesday, July 21st, is the date fixed for the congressional primary by the Democratic Fourth District committee at the Chesapeake Hotel here.

After considerable discussion, the open session, at which there were present, besides four committeemen, Hunter Watson, of Nottingham, who is Representative Southall's secretary; Major F. R. Lassiter, R. H. Mann, who represented his district; and Mr. W. H. Mann, who is the nomination, and Editor Land, of the Blackstone Courier. Judge Yarroll was not represented. The opinions of the candidates as to the date were heard, and the committee then made its decision in executive session.

A letter from Southall suggested a date between August 1st and 15th. Lassiter and Mann preferred an early date. In preparing election rules the committee provided that each candidate shall deposit $350 by June 1st for election expenses.

Two of the three election judges at each precinct shall act as clerks.

New City Laws.

The Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform met last night and spent two hours wrestling with proposed new laws, which have come to the committee's table from various directions.

The most interesting ordinance that came up was the one concerning the use of three feet of sidewalks by merchants to show goods in front of their stores. The committee recommended the passage of the ordinance as heretofore presented with an amendment that the law shall be revokable at the will of the Council.

The committee also recommended the passage of the ordinance allowing automobile drivers to make a speed of fifteen miles per hour on the streets of Richmond. The ordinance was recommended as a necessary measure to meet the views of the Board of Aldermen.

Virginia Cases in Supreme Court.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16.--Two Virginia cases were argued in the Supreme Court to-day. One was the First National Bank, of Baltimore, vs. William Staake, and the second, Receivers of the Virginia Coal, Coke and Iron Company vs. William Staake. Staake is trustee in bankruptcy of C. R. Blair, and the suits are for the purpose of recovering money by creditors. The money is on deposit in a Philadelphia bank, awaiting the decision of the court.

Arthur G. Dickson, John Dickey and Major "Tip" Griffith represented the trustee, and Judge William Gordon Robertson and Major Holmes Conrad, the petitioners.

DASHED TO DEATH FROM CHURCH TOP

Roof Slipped, Clutched Gutter and Struggled But Could Not Hold.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 16.--A desperate, but ineffectual struggle against death was witnessed to-day by more than a score of persons who stood helpless to assist in front of St. Bartholomew's Church, at Madison Avenue and Forty-fourth Street. Walter Conrad, a roofer, sixty years old, was the victim of the tragedy. He was at work on the roof of the church to-day when he lost his footing and fell, rolling swiftly down the incline. At the edge he managed to grasp a gutter which runs along the eaves and hung there for a few moments, fully three minutes, vainly trying to pull himself back to safety. Finally his hold weakened and he fell to the sidewalk. He struck on his head and was instantly killed.

How the Goulds Are Raising Their Children

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

Story of their home life in palatial Georgian Court, where they are being trained to become useful men and women in the

KENTUCKY NEGRO AMUCK IN GOTHAM

Ex-Convict Entered Cafe and Begun Shooting When Ordered Out.

CARRIED THREE REVOLVERS

Injured Patrolmen and Manager of Cafe, and Put Patrons to Flight.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 16.--Ell Lucas, a negro ex-convict, who served a twenty years sentence in Kentucky for murder, to-night shot three men in the Crescent Cafe, 108 West Thirty-second Street. The injured men are Roundman John Walsh and Patrolman James Scott, both of the West Thirtieth Street police station, and John Jones, manager of the cafe. The negro was shot in the right shoulder. Jones received a bullet in the right shoulder, but his injury is not serious. Walsh was shot in the right arm. The fifty patrons of the place sought safety behind the bar, under tables and behind barricades of chairs. Lucas, still shooting, backed out of the place and escaped. The cafe was fired at several times as he disappeared.

Lucas entered the cafe in an ugly mood, and was ordered out. This angered him, and he pulled one of three revolvers he carried and began the shooting. Lucas was arrested late to-night at Fifty-sixth Street and Broadway, after a light which was almost as desperate as the original in the cafe. Before he was subdued he had exchanged shot for shot with two detectives, having reloaded his revolver. There was a running fight for nearly a block, and only the timely appearance of a patrolman saved the arms Lucas ran, put out to light. When Lucas was brought back to a police station he was battered and bloody from head to foot, his clothes were nearly all torn off him and he had received a severe beating, but, as the police said, his desperate efforts to escape, even after being disarmed.

BEST DAY YET.

Pure Food Show Drawing Large Crowds Day and Night.

In view of the decision of the Arrangement Committee of the Pure Food Show last night to give a gold medal to the demonstrator who takes the largest number of orders for local retail merchants, commencing with next Monday, visitors to the show will have the surprising pleasure of hearing the demonstrators "sell" their wares eloquently than ever. It is pandemonium as it is, and with the change the public will have to provide itself with cotton wadding for its organs of hearing before paying the Food Show a visit.

Yesterday was the most successful of any in the four day history of the show. All day the halls were crowded with visitors. Women jostled the men and the shopping-bags, stuffed to capacity with the little nick-nacks that the bearers had picked up at the different booths, threatened every minute to trip the less wary of the male sex.

At the end of the hall, selections of waltz time music, and kept alive a desire to take a few turns around the floor. Over at the Carolina Brights booth, huge columns of blue smoke curled up to the ceiling and spreading over the room, made the whole building fragrant with the smell of tobacco. Across the passage, the gilt talker told the visitors of the little pack of grocers' scales and did a few weighing stunts.

JOHNS HOPKINS AND VIRGINIA IN DEBATE

American Municipalities Should Own and Operate Steel Railways.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 16.--Quite a crowd of students gathered in Madison Hall at the University of Virginia to-night to listen to the Johns-Hopkins-Virginia debate, the first of a series of three annual contests arranged between the two institutions. After a spirited contest, the judges--President R. E. Blackwell, of Randolph-Macon College, and Professors J. P. Willis, of Washington and Lee University, and the Rev. Dr. Russell Cecil, of Richmond--awarded a decision in favor of the Virginia debaters.

The Hopkins team consisted of Messrs. Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., and Ormond W. Hammond, alternates. Virginia was represented by Messrs. Gentry Hodges, of Jonesboro, Tenn.; Lee Bigdow, of the University of Virginia; W. T. Mayers, of Broadway, Va.; with W. K. Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., as alternate.

The question debated was: "Resolved, that American municipalities should own and operate steel railways." Mr. Thomas R. Godey, of Johns Hopkins, and Mr. B. A. Meginnies, of the University of Virginia, acted as judges. The contest was a very close one. The Virginia team, consisting of Messrs. R. E. Chumbley, L. B. Way, H. M. Strickler, H. E. McCoy and Tucker, of the Washington School, and Mr. John J. Luck, S. H. Edes, W. B. Clift, H. Foreman and Moomaw, from the Jefferson School.

DONLIN APOLOGIZES AND IS REINSTATED

Centerfielder of New York Nationals Had Been Suspended for Disobeying Rules.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

MEMPHIS, TENN., March 16.--Mike Donlin, centerfielder of the New York Nationals, who was suspended indefinitely for disobeying rules, to-day apologized to Manager McGraw for his misbehavior and was reinstated. Donlin is considered to be escaping lightly, but it is believed by his friends that the incident happened for the best of all concerned. McGraw won, and showed by his lenient action, that he is a fair manager. The New York leader has certainly had a strenuous time in the last few days. Nearly every member of the team is suffering from slight or severe cold.

CONDUIT IN THE AIR; NO CRYSTAL WATER

Cost of Flume Greater Than the Amount of Funds Now in Hand.

The Water Committee held a lengthy meeting last night to consider bids from contractors for the building of the conduit from the waterworks to the settling basin. When the bids were read the committee found itself up against a hard proposition and much time was spent in a discussion of the question as to how to solve the problem presented.

The bids for the work called for more money than has been set aside for the purpose. As the committee has no right to enter into a contract or recommend one to the Council, looking to the expenditure of more money than it has in hand, there was nothing to do but reject all the bids. This was done and the conduit in the air and clear water for Richmond as far in the future as ever it was. What to do was the question.

Superintendent Hollick took the floor and in a most earnest speech begged the committee not to leave the matter where it was. He spoke of the clamor of the people for clear water and intimated that they were losing their patience. He said that if the committee would say, "Go ahead, build this conduit of the best and most lasting material, reinforced concrete, and let us have the long-promised clear water, no matter how much it costs, a million dollars more than was at first thought." The superintendent spoke of the rapid increase in the cost of all kinds of material and in other ways pointed out the dangers of further delay. In conclusion he asked that a sub-committee be appointed to look into the matter and make a report to the committee as early as possible, the very lowest price at which the concrete conduit can be built.

Mr. Morton made a motion that a sub-committee of three be appointed in accordance with the suggestion of the superintendent and that it be further directed, when it shall obtain the desired information, to lay the whole situation before the Council. The motion was carried for the necessary money to complete the work. The motion was carried, and Messrs. Mann, Morton and Masaurier were named as the committee.

The discussion developed the fact that the great mistake the committee made in the very beginning was in not asking for enough money to complete the work, hence the delay and the tough proposition the committee now finds itself up against.

COMMITTEE ON HEALTH.

Session Taken Up in Discussion of Health Ordinance.

The Committee on Health met at 5 o'clock last night, with all the members present. Dr. Williams recently appointed a member of the committee in the place of Mr. West, resigned, appeared and took his seat.

The president of the board of Health reported eight new cases of smallpox, one from Twenty-third and Main Streets, two from the old college dispensary, and five from the college, all negroes.

The proposed ordinance compelling owners of dwellings or real estate agents having charge of same to report them to the Board of Health immediately upon vaccination, in order that it may be fumigated before reoccupancy, was called up, and, after lengthy discussion, was referred to a subcommittee, composed of Messrs. Williams, Cottrell and Ferguson.

The proposed ordinance providing for the appointment of three sanitary inspectors, which hung fire in the Board of Aldermen and was sent back to this committee, came up for discussion.

Mr. Umlauf offered an amended ordinance, which places the inspectors under the Board of Health, instead of the Board of Health, and the defeated ordinance. In this shape the committee recommended the ordinance to the Council for passage.

COLONE ELLIOTT CHOSEN BY TAFT

South Carolina Man to Be Commissioner to Mark Confederate Graves.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 16.--Colonel William Elliott, of Beaufort, S. C., formerly a representative in Congress from that State, has been selected by Secretary Taft to be a commissioner to mark the graves of Confederate soldiers who died in Northern prisons.

Colonel Elliott served for fourteen years in Congress and is a distinguished lawyer. He is a veteran of the Confederate army, having served under General Stephen D. Lee and gained his promotion to a colonel by gallantry in action at Vicksburg. He was present in all of the great battles in Virginia up to 1863, at which time he was transferred to the West. He was present at the battles of Vicksburg, Harpersburg, Atlanta, Jonesboro, Franklin, Newbern, Nashville and Bentonville. In the last of which he was wounded.

Workingmen and the Library.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir--It seems almost incredible that in Richmond, the cultured capital of one of the grandest States in the Union, the center of learning with her seminary, colleges and extensive system of schools, public and private, should be without a workingmen's library. (I mean, of course, when some time ago the city failed to accept the offer of $100,000 for a library building, the impression was made that the working people were somehow to blame for the failure to utilize this opportunity to secure a library. I was not in the city then, and do not know the reasons of the case; but years of close association with the working people lead me to believe that if any of the city fathers opposed the gift because they thought the working people did not need or desire a library, they were probably perfectly honest, but simply misunderstood both the needs and desires of the working people. The working people may be too busy working to read, but they have a keen interest in the things of the mind, and they would be glad to have a place where they could get a book for a few minutes of their own time, and may be to blame for a sin of omission in permitting the lack of a library to be a blot on the city's reputation. I am speaking now of those independently rich and those who are really poor, neither of whom really care to work, and therefore have no time to read.

Several years ago, in Petersburg, a number of working people raised money to start a library. Each wrote on a card the number of the book he wanted to read, and the list was made up. The list was like best to read. From these books they selected those to start the library. The list was made up of the names of the working people, and the list was made up of the names of the working people, and the list was made up of the names of the working people.

JOHNS HOPKINS AND VIRGINIA IN DEBATE

American Municipalities Should Own and Operate Steel Railways.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 16.--Quite a crowd of students gathered in Madison Hall at the University of Virginia to-night to listen to the Johns-Hopkins-Virginia debate, the first of a series of three annual contests arranged between the two institutions. After a spirited contest, the judges--President R. E. Blackwell, of Randolph-Macon College, and Professors J. P. Willis, of Washington and Lee University, and the Rev. Dr. Russell Cecil, of Richmond--awarded a decision in favor of the Virginia debaters.

The Hopkins team consisted of Messrs. Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., and Ormond W. Hammond, alternates. Virginia was represented by Messrs. Gentry Hodges, of Jonesboro, Tenn.; Lee Bigdow, of the University of Virginia; W. T. Mayers, of Broadway, Va.; with W. K. Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., as alternate.

The question debated was: "Resolved, that American municipalities should own and operate steel railways." Mr. Thomas R. Godey, of Johns Hopkins, and Mr. B. A. Meginnies, of the University of Virginia, acted as judges. The contest was a very close one. The Virginia team, consisting of Messrs. R. E. Chumbley, L. B. Way, H. M. Strickler, H. E. McCoy and Tucker, of the Washington School, and Mr. John J. Luck, S. H. Edes, W. B. Clift, H. Foreman and Moomaw, from the Jefferson School.

A STOCK BROKERAGE AND BANKING FIRM

Messrs. Hobson, Massie and Leigh Will Open Offices First of April.

The newly organized firm of Hobson, Massie & Leigh, brokers and bankers, will open their offices at No. 1102 East Main Street on April 1st.

The firm is composed of Mr. Saunders Hobson, who is the head of the present firm of Hobson & Company; Mr. W. R. Massie, now cashier of the Union Bank, and Mr. Palmer Leigh, a son of Mr. Egbert G. Leigh, Jr., president of the Southern Manufacturing Company.

The firm will have a New York Exchange member, Mr. Massie, who will also have a seat on the Richmond Stock Exchange.

The New York correspondent of the firm will be Messrs. Moore & Schley.

All of the members of the new firm are well known in the business and social life of Richmond, and command the confidence of the community.

Mr. Call, late of the American National Bank, has been elected cashier of the Union Bank, and will enter upon his duties after the retirement of Mr. Massie.

BLUES INSPECTED.

Will Not Recommend Third Market as Suitable Place.

The Virginia Light Infantry Blues Battalion was inspected in the armory last night by Major Chynoweth, of the United States Army, the battalion making a most excellent showing, both in appearance and in drill. There were absent only two men--one from sickness and the other from absence from the city.

The inspection passed off exceedingly well, and the officers and men were highly complimented. Colonel George Wayne Anderson, Major Dempsey, and Captain Parham and Lieutenant Harrison, of Petersburg, were visitors at the inspection.

At a meeting of the sub-committee appointed from the Finance Committee in the afternoon it was decided not to recommend the Third Market as a suitable place for the blues market.

The sub-committee will meet again on Monday, when other places will be suggested to the members.

THE NEGROES AND THE LIBRARY.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir--The City of Richmond has a library, to be supported by this city of Richmond, should be carefully considered. The object of mixed schools; the library should be a place where the poor, who are so often so poor, can get a book for a few minutes of their own time, and may be to blame for a sin of omission in permitting the lack of a library to be a blot on the city's reputation. I am speaking now of those independently rich and those who are really poor, neither of whom really care to work, and therefore have no time to read.

Several years ago, in Petersburg, a number of working people raised money to start a library. Each wrote on a card the number of the book he wanted to read, and the list was made up. The list was like best to read. From these books they selected those to start the library. The list was made up of the names of the working people, and the list was made up of the names of the working people, and the list was made up of the names of the working people.

INTERPRETATION OF ENOCH ARDEN.

Enoch Arden, a delightful interpretation of Tennyson's sweet poem, was given through the medium of the radio, by Miss Kate Blumfeldt, assisted by Miss Myrtle Redford, pianist, and Miss Louise Reinhardt, violinist, at the Young Men's Christian Association Hall last evening.

The audience was very large and gave every evidence of hearty appreciation. The reading of Miss Blumfeldt was excellent; indeed, her expression is in many cases more eloquent than her words. Miss Redford, assisting Miss Blumfeldt, was Mr. Frank Cooby, Mr. Velford Kelly and Misses Eula Bailey and Lulu Crump.

The playing of Miss Myrtle Redford and Miss Annie Louise Reinhardt was excellent. Both of the young ladies are musicians of high order and have played before Richmond audiences many times before.

Mr. Cooby, as usual, was good in his part, and the other members of the cast gave a most creditable performance.

COLONE ELLIOTT CHOSEN BY TAFT

South Carolina Man to Be Commissioner to Mark Confederate Graves.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 16.--Colonel William Elliott, of Beaufort, S. C., formerly a representative in Congress from that State, has been selected by Secretary Taft to be a commissioner to mark the graves of Confederate soldiers who died in Northern prisons.

Colonel Elliott served for fourteen years in Congress and is a distinguished lawyer. He is a veteran of the Confederate army, having served under General Stephen D. Lee and gained his promotion to a colonel by gallantry in action at Vicksburg. He was present in all of the great battles in Virginia up to 1863, at which time he was transferred to the West. He was present at the battles of Vicksburg, Harpersburg, Atlanta, Jonesboro, Franklin, Newbern, Nashville and Bentonville. In the last of which he was wounded.

Workingmen and the Library.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:

Sir--It seems almost incredible that in Richmond, the cultured capital of one of the grandest States in the Union, the center of learning with her seminary, colleges and extensive system of schools, public and private, should be without a workingmen's library. (I mean, of course, when some time ago the city failed to accept the offer of $100,000 for a library building, the impression was made that the working people were somehow to blame for the failure to utilize this opportunity to secure a library. I was not in the city then, and do not know the reasons of the case; but years of close association with the working people lead me to believe that if any of the city fathers opposed the gift because they thought the working people did not need or desire a library, they were probably perfectly honest, but simply misunderstood both the needs and desires of the working people. The working people may be too busy working to read, but they have a keen interest in the things of the mind, and they would be glad to have a place where they could get a book for a few minutes of their own time, and may be to blame for a sin of omission in permitting the lack of a library to be a blot on the city's reputation. I am speaking now of those independently rich and those who are really poor, neither of whom really care to work, and therefore have no time to read.

Several years ago, in Petersburg, a number of working people raised money to start a library. Each wrote on a card the number of the book he wanted to read, and the list was made up. The list was like best to read. From these books they selected those to start the library. The list was made up of the names of the working people, and the list was made up of the names of the working people, and the list was made up of the names of the working people.

JOHNS HOPKINS AND VIRGINIA IN DEBATE

American Municipalities Should Own and Operate Steel Railways.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 16.--Quite a crowd of students gathered in Madison Hall at the University of Virginia to-night to listen to the Johns-Hopkins-Virginia debate, the first of a series of three annual contests arranged between the two institutions. After a spirited contest, the judges--President R. E. Blackwell, of Randolph-Macon College, and Professors J. P. Willis, of Washington and Lee University, and the Rev. Dr. Russell Cecil, of Richmond--awarded a decision in favor of the Virginia debaters.

The Hopkins team consisted of Messrs. Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., and Ormond W. Hammond, alternates. Virginia was represented by Messrs. Gentry Hodges, of Jonesboro, Tenn.; Lee Bigdow, of the University of Virginia; W. T. Mayers, of Broadway, Va.; with W. K. Jackson, of Jacksonville, Fla., as alternate.

The question debated was: "Resolved, that American municipalities should own and operate steel railways." Mr. Thomas R. Godey, of Johns Hopkins, and Mr. B. A. Meginnies, of the University of Virginia, acted as judges. The contest was a very close one. The Virginia team, consisting of Messrs. R. E. Chumbley, L. B. Way, H. M. Strickler, H. E. McCoy and Tucker, of the Washington School, and Mr. John J. Luck, S. H. Edes, W. B. Clift, H. Foreman and Moomaw, from the Jefferson School.

TRAINS CRASH IN STORM; 35 KILLED

(Continued from First Page.)

during the day that only fifteen persons were killed.

Work of clearing away the debris of the wreck began at daylight with the aid of two wreckers. It is announced that the track will be entirely clear and that the line will be opened very soon.

The monetary damage to railroad property is $200,000. In addition to this, much baggage and mail were destroyed.

SIX OF ONE FAMILY KILLED.

One of the pathetic tragedies of the disaster was the wiping out of all but two of the family of Taylor Hewitt, of Rebo, Ky. Father, mother, daughter, grandchild and three of the sons are missing. Two sons--E. A. Hewitt and W. L. Hewitt--are among the injured in the hospital here, each of them having leg fractures in addition to other injuries. E. A. Hewitt said that he had a dream several months ago in which his family was all killed. He said he saw the plane as it fell, and saw the wreckage, everything that took place after the collision.

Some of the victims were pinioned under the wreckage and were unable to get help could reach them. Most of the injured were on No. 3, which was heavily loaded with passengers. The survivors, passengers, and those escaped generally with a slight shaking up.

Some of the victims were once dispatched to the scene from Pueblo and Florence, but the work was necessarily slow, because of the cold weather and the wreckage and because of the cold weather.

During the progress of the fire one man was seen hanging from a car window. He was a man of about 40 years of age, and the heat was too intense for the rescuers to reach him. He was found dead before the eyes of the crowd around the burning wreck.

THRILLING RESCUES.

Many thrilling rescues were reported. One man, whose name could not be learned, forced his way into a coach that had been crushed under a pile of wreckage, and saved a young girl who had been pinned under a seat. He raised her the girl died in his arms.

Another man dropped his burden and seized a man who was lying under a roof timber. He dragged the man to a clearing and placed him in a safe place. This one rescuer saved the lives of four people.

Some of the victims were once dispatched to the scene from Pueblo and Florence, but the work was necessarily slow, because of the cold weather and the wreckage and because of the cold weather.

During the progress of the fire one man was seen hanging from a car window. He was a man of about 40 years of age, and the heat was too intense for the rescuers to reach him. He was found dead before the eyes of the crowd around the burning wreck.

ELECT THREE MEMBERS.

At a meeting last night of the Virginia Historical Society, three new members--Annie Phillips, J. S. Moore, Jr., and Clair E. Crawford--were elected. There being an insufficient number of members to elect a committee of officers and delegates to the convention of the national society, to be held in Boston, the Virginia Historical Society decided to hold another meeting for next Friday, when an election will take place. The members of the society are urged to bring with them to the meeting a list of names of those who wish to be elected to the Virginia Club for the use of the club rooms on the occasion of the next convention.

It is strongly urged that all the members be present at the called meeting, as the officers and delegates to the convention of the American Revolution must be elected.

CUT ON COAL RATE.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ROANOKE, Va., March 16.--The reduction of the rate on coal by the Norfolk and Western Railway into effect today. There are no reductions at other points. The officials say that they have no explanation to make of the reduction other than it was decided to make it.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVER'S PHARMACY, 101 N. 3rd St., Richmond, Va.

CROSSETT SHOES

$400 SHOES $500

MAKES LIFE'S WALK EASY

Do away with his torments--buy the shoe that's worth while. Crossetts at once bring rest and relief.

If your dealer does not keep them, we will send any style on receipt of $1.00, 25c. additional to pay forwarding charges.

LEWIS A. CROSSETT, Inc.
NORTH ABINGTON, MASS.

THREE FIREMEN DIE UNDER WALLS

Nine Others Seriously Injured in Old Armory in Camden.

(By Associated Press.)

CAMDEN, N. J., March 1